A wide-angle photograph of a modern, luxurious lobby. The space is characterized by its clean, minimalist design. In the foreground, several plush, light-colored sofas and armchairs are arranged around a low, round coffee table. The floor is highly reflective, showing the surrounding furniture and lights. In the middle ground, a dark wood reception desk is visible, with a computer monitor and some decorative items on top. Behind the desk, a wall of vertical panels is illuminated from within, creating a warm glow. To the right, more seating areas with white sofas and armchairs are visible, along with a large, multi-tiered chandelier hanging from the ceiling. The ceiling itself is white with recessed lighting and a few large, modern chandeliers. The overall atmosphere is one of elegance and comfort.
