The background is a soft watercolor wash. On the left, there are layered washes of various shades of green, from light lime to deep forest green. These transition into a pale yellow and cream color in the center. On the right, there are washes of light blue and lavender, with some darker blue accents. The overall effect is ethereal and dreamlike.

A large, abstract watercolor splash in shades of blue and purple, starting from the right side and spreading towards the center. The splash has irregular, feathered edges and contains some darker, more saturated areas.
